

ReflexZPlan

Dynamic financial accounting spreadsheet with the school of thinking to help you maneuvering business properly

Abstract

The software comprises of the dynamic financial accounting spreadsheet and the schools of thinking.

The dynamic financial accounting spreadsheet is described.

The dynamic financial accounting spreadsheet provides complete, sufficient, reconciled and correct financial report.

The dynamic financial accounting spreadsheet works as gauges, illustrating five business components ; market, man, management, method and machine via combinations of financial accounting details.

The dynamic financial accounting spreadsheet is the money business component.

The dynamic financial accounting spreadsheet provides business structure and performance in the real market situation.

All management initiatives are real, possible and potential only if they possess financial accounting support and responsibility and based upon correct reconciled financial accounting data.

The dynamic financial accounting spreadsheet works on the dynamic spreadsheet, providing capability to simulate business settings instantly.

These are the available management initiatives, based on financial support and responsibility.

The schools of thinking are described.

The schools of thinking are means to interpret the business information.

The essence of business is the profit, thus the financial accounting data are the key figures.

Composing business into life comprises of business components in proper order, market, money, man, management, method and machine respectively.

Six business components interrelate naturally in cubical relationship, thus every management activity is the strategic management initiative.

The methods to overview business picture and focus elemental details are described.

The methods to balance, harmonize, and synergise business components are described.

The methods to slim the business components and upgrade the business performance are described.

The methods to monitor business performance and indicate business component limitations are described.

The methods to construct business route and illustrate daily schedule are described.

The methods to achieve peak personal performance are described.

The method to achieve the circle of prosperity is described.

Time asset and method to possess best chances for incoming business opportunities are described.

The method to react to the global flux correctly and fast is described.